DATA AVAILABILITY

- Limitations in statistical collection capacity across countries.

- Globally comparable data either unavailable or very limited.

- Official data insufficient at the national level in most countries.
• Audits the available data
• Rates performance on the 22 targets
• Assesses the available trends in each target
• Official data across countries exists for 8 out of 22 indicators
• SDG16 Data Initiative has recommended an additional 9
• IEP has sourced the remaining 5
The report covers 22 of the 23 SDG16 indicators and finds that:

- 8/22 indicators have data for less than 50% of countries
- Only 7/22 indicators have data for more than 90% of countries
- Indicators like violence against children, sexual violence and underreporting of violence are comparable for less than 40% of countries.

Positive Peace Snapshot

Positive Peace is the attitudes, institutions, and structures that create and maintain peaceful societies. The Positive Peace Index measures Positive Peace across eight domains:

- High levels of human capital
- Acceptance of the rights of others
- Good relations with neighbours
- Free flow of information
- Equitable distribution of resources
- Sound business environment
- Low levels of corruption
- High functioning government

SDG 16 Data Snapshot

- Data Availability: 68%
- Indicator Performance: 73%
- Indicator Trends: 47%

Georgia has data for 15 of the 22 national level SDG16 indicators. 11 of the 15 are classified as having good performance by IEP. 7 of the 15 indicators have shown some improvement in the last 12 years.

MOVING FORWARD

- Data availability and capacity
- Methodological challenges
- Political challenges
- Contextualization
- Prioritization
CONCLUSIONS

Measurement is key for tracking progress.

Tracking progress is key to targeting policy interventions…

… but also to hold countries to account on their SDG performance.

Better financing of National Statistical Offices required, but likely to take a while.

Third party data collection and measurement key for tracking progress in the meantime.
