Simulation: Sixth Committee of the General Assembly

Welcome to WIMUN Singapore 2025,

We are very pleased to introduce you to the most authentic simulation of the United Nations in the world; and hope to contribute to your understanding of the Organisation, its mandate, and its critical role in global affairs.

Through a series of pre-conference webinars that will be offered and documents – like this resource guide – we aim to educate you not only about the global issues on the UN agenda, but also about the ways and means through which those topics are discussed, debated and negotiated by real UN diplomats.

This resource guide will provide you with a head start in doing research to gain a deeper understanding of the global issue that you will be discussing and the actions that the government you have been assigned recommends that the international community should take to address this issue. To make the research process a bit easier, the resource guide has been divided into sections and sub-sections to assist you in researching these two components. We strongly recommend you to give a careful look through the sources listed below so that the interaction with your peers is as exciting as possible.

We wish you all the very best in this journey of learning!

Measures to eliminate international terrorism

In recent decades, international terrorism has become one of the most significant threats to global peace and security. This phenomenon - closely linked to other forms of transnational organised crime - has been dramatically evolving in its complexity, representing a major challenge States are confronted with. In this regard, the United Nations plays a critical role in strengthening Member States by encouraging the adoption of national and international measures to prevent and suppress terrorism. In this respect, the UN undertook some operational measures which involve, among others, the creation by the Security Council of a Counter-Terrorism Committee (CTC), assisted by an Executive Directorate (CTED), which works on the implementation of policy decisions and conducts assessments of Member States. The recently-established United Nations Office of Counter-Terrorism works closely with Member States and civil societies giving an important contribution in the implementation of counter-terrorism strategies.

At the UN level, the Resolution adopted by the Security Council on 28 September, 2001 (S/RES/1373) to prevent and suppress the financing of terrorist acts represents a cornerstone of the fight against terrorism. In addition, measures adopted both on a national level and by international organisations such as the European Union, the Council of Europe, the Organisation for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE) and the Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS), namely include countering the financing of terrorism and preventing the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction, as well as the adoption of agreements and legislative acts aimed at preventing and eliminating terrorism in all its forms. Capacity building and coordination efforts among Member States and International Organisations are vital in dealing with this complex, multifaceted phenomenon. In this regard, the United Nations Global Counter-Terrorism Coordination Compact is the largest coordination framework through which the UN assists Member States in the implementation of the UN Global Counter-Terrorism Strategy.

The growing complexity of our world is reflected in the evolving nature of terrorism. Terrorist groups will continue to exploit not only societal fragmentation, weak governance, regional and intrastate conflicts, but also demographic pressures and environmental degradation to gain power while pushing their ideologies. Moreover, they will keep exploiting ungoverned or poorly governed areas (namely Africa, Middle East, South Asia) to act as providers of alternative forms of governance. This is especially true in war-torn countries. On top of this, technological advances including AI and biotechnology may offer terrorists the opportunity to conduct more sophisticated and even remote attacks and to collaborate across borders. In conclusion, this clearly underlines how a comprehensive, multi-dimensional approach as well as the adaptation of counter-terrorism strategies to the evolving nature of terrorist methods is critical to the prevention and elimination of the phenomenon.

Key Points and Main Issues

When discussing Measures to Eliminate International Terrorism, delegates should focus on a comprehensive, multi-faceted approach that includes addressing root causes, fostering international cooperation, disrupting terrorist financing, countering radicalization, and ensuring that counter-terrorism measures respect human rights and the rule of law. This approach balances security with sustainable peace and global justice.

1. Addressing Root Causes

- Socioeconomic Factors:
  - Poverty, unemployment, and lack of access to education can create conditions conducive to radicalization.
  - Marginalized communities, especially in conflict-prone regions, may be exploited by terrorist groups offering financial incentives or a sense of purpose.
- Political Instability and Governance:
  - Weak governance, corruption, and political exclusion often create power vacuums that terrorist groups exploit.
  - Political repression and discriminatory policies can fuel grievances that lead to extremism.
  - Ideological Propaganda:
    - Terrorist organizations often exploit ideological, religious, or ethnic divides to recruit and radicalize individuals.
- Recommended actions:
  - Develop holistic counter-terrorism strategies that focus on economic development, social cohesion, and education to reduce vulnerabilities to radicalization.
  - Promote inclusive governance that ensures equal political participation and addresses grievances of marginalized groups.
  - Encourage community-driven efforts to counter terrorist propaganda and provide alternative narratives.

2. International Cooperation

- Global Nature of Terrorism:
  - Terrorist networks operate across borders, necessitating international collaboration in intelligence sharing, legal frameworks, and joint operations.
- Challenges to Cooperation:
- Differing Definitions of Terrorism:
  - Some nations define terrorism based on their political or strategic interests, leading to inconsistencies in international policies. (cont.)

Key Points and Main Issues (cont.)

2. International Cooperation (cont.)

- Political Disagreements:
  - Conflicts of interest between nations can hinder cooperation, particularly when states support proxy groups or have competing geopolitical goals.
- Human Rights Concerns:
  - Counter-terrorism measures must uphold human rights and the rule of law to prevent abuses that could fuel further radicalization.
- Recommended actions:
  - Strengthen global mechanisms like the UN Counter-Terrorism Office (UNOCT) and INTERPOL to facilitate intelligence sharing and coordination.
  - Standardize international legal frameworks for defining and prosecuting terrorism.
  - Establish confidence-building measures between nations to improve collaboration and resolve political differences.
  - Emphasize adherence to human rights norms, ensuring that counter-terrorism efforts are consistent with international law.

3. Countering Terrorist Financing

- Funding Sources:
  - Terrorist groups rely on funding from various sources, including:
    - Illicit trade (e.g., arms, drugs, and human trafficking).
    - Exploitation of natural resources (e.g., illegal mining or smuggling).
    - Donations from sympathizers and front organizations.
    - Some groups exploit legitimate businesses or extort local populations for revenue.
- New Challenges:
  - Cryptocurrencies and decentralized financial systems make it difficult to trace and disrupt terrorist financing.
  - Online platforms facilitate crowdfunding and money transfers for extremist causes.
- Recommended actions:
  - Strengthen financial monitoring systems to track and disrupt terrorist funding networks.
  - Enhance international cooperation to enforce anti-money laundering (AML) laws and combat the illicit trade of goods and resources.
  - Develop technologies and frameworks to address the use of cryptocurrencies for illicit purposes.
  - Support capacity-building programs for developing countries to improve their ability to detect and prevent financial crimes.

4. Countering Recruitment and Radicalization

- Online Radicalization:
  - The internet and social media are major tools for recruiting individuals, spreading propaganda, and coordinating terrorist activities.
- Community Vulnerabilities:
  - Social isolation, discrimination, and a lack of opportunities can make individuals susceptible to extremist ideologies.
- Rehabilitation and Reintegration:
  - Returning foreign fighters and individuals disengaging from extremist groups require comprehensive reintegration programs.
- Recommended actions:
  - Promote digital literacy programs to help communities identify and resist extremist content online.
  - Collaborate with tech companies to monitor and remove content that incites terrorism while respecting free speech and privacy rights.
  - Develop de-radicalization and rehabilitation programs that focus on psychological support, education, and skills training.
  - Engage local leaders, educators, and religious figures to counter extremist narratives and foster community resilience.

5. Enhancing Border Security

- Transnational Movement:
  - Terrorist networks often exploit porous borders to move fighters, weapons, and resources.
- Humanitarian Challenges:
  - Strict border controls can hinder the movement of refugees and humanitarian aid, creating tensions between security and humanitarian needs.
- Recommended actions:
  - Invest in advanced border security technologies, such as biometric identification and surveillance systems.
  - Balance border security with humanitarian principles, ensuring the protection of refugees and displaced persons.
  - Foster regional cooperation to secure shared borders and prevent the movement of terrorist networks.

Summary of important information and main issues (cont.)

6. Balancing Security and Civil Liberties

- Human Rights Concerns:
  - Counter-terrorism measures that infringe on civil liberties, such as mass surveillance or indefinite detention, can alienate communities and undermine trust in governments.
- Accountability:
  - Ensuring oversight and accountability in counter-terrorism operations is critical to maintaining public support.
- Recommended actions:
  - Promote transparency and accountability in counter-terrorism policies through independent oversight bodies.
  - Ensure that counter-terrorism measures are proportional, targeted, and consistent with international human rights standards.
  - Engage civil society organizations in monitoring and evaluating the impact of counter-terrorism initiatives.

7. Strengthening Regional and Local Responses

- Regional Collaboration:
  - Regions with shared challenges, such as the Sahel, require collective strategies to address terrorism and its root causes
- Community Engagement:
  - Local populations are often the first to encounter extremist threats, making their involvement essential for effective prevention.
- Recommended actions:
  - Support regional frameworks like the Global Counter-Terrorism Forum (GCTF) to address regional terrorism challenges.
  - Empower local governments and civil society to lead counter-terrorism efforts, ensuring cultural relevance and sustainability.

UNOCT, Opening Remarks by Mr. Vladimir Voronkov, Under-Secretary-General of the United Nations Office of Counter-Terrorism Third High Level Meeting of the Marrakech Platform - The Evolving Field of Intelligence Analysis in the Context of Counter-Terrorism 2024

Summary: Terrorist groups continue to exploit political instability as well as socioeconomic problems to gain power, namely in the African continent. It is therefore a collective responsibility to support African States in their fight against terrorism. Nowadays, Artificial Intelligence can provide new opportunities in countering-terrorism through the processing and analysis of massive amounts of data. In this respect, investment in capacity building and collaboration between public authorities, the private sector, academia and civil society is critical.

UN General Assembly, A/77/718 (2023), Activities of the United Nations System in implementing the United Nations Global Counter-Terrorism Strategy 2023

Summary: The report, after pointing out how the global terrorism landscape has been dramatically evolving in the past few years while being fostered by crisis (namely the COVID-19 Pandemic) and conflict, provides a detailed account of the activities developed or improved by UN entities and Member States aimed at implementing the United Nations Global Counter-Terrorism Strategy.

UN General Assembly, A/RES/77/113 (2022), Measures to Eliminate International Terrorism 2022

Summary: The Resolution encourages Member States to adopt further measures aimed at preventing terrorism and to strengthen international cooperation in fighting terrorism. It stresses the need of combating the financing of terrorist activities as well as the importance of exchanging accurate information concerning terrorist groups and acts among Member States.

UN Security Council, S/RES/2482 \(2019\), Threats to international peace and security caused by international terrorism and organized crime 2019

Summary: This resolution points out the correlation between international terrorism and organised crime, the latter often being exploited by terrorist groups as a source of financing and logistical support. The Security Council therefore encourages all Member States to enhance their coordination in order to strengthen the global response to the linkages between terrorism and organised crime. Moreover, it stresses the importance of fighting against corruption, money-laundering and terrorist financing, as well as of countering the threat posed by the cultivation, trafficking and consumption of drugs that may contribute to the financing of terrorist organisations.

United Nations Security Council Counter Terrorism Committee, Security Council Guiding Principles on Foreign Terrorist Fighters, The 2015 Madrid Guiding Principles + 2018 Addendum \(S/2015/939 and S/2018/1177\) 2019

Summary: Foreign Terrorist Fighters pose a growing threat to international peace and security, namely threatening their State of origin, the States through which they transit and the State to which they travel. The Counter-Terrorism Committee encourages the adoption and improvement of some fundamental measures to prevent foreign fighters from carrying out their terrorist acts. These measures include, among others, preventing the travel of aspiring foreign fighters through effective law-enforcement and intelligence strategies with cooperation between governmental and non-governmental actors as well as engaging local communities and civil society in countering violent and extremist narratives.

UN General Assembly, A/RES/60/288 (2006), The 2006 United Nations Global Counter-Terrorism Strategy

Summary: The Global Counter-Terrorism Strategy, adopted through Resolution 60/288, is a unique global instrument to enhance national, regional and international efforts to counter-terrorism by providing Member States with a common strategic and operational approach to fighting terrorism. The strategy is based on four pillars:

1. Measures to address the conditions conducive to the spread of terrorism
2. Measures to prevent and combat terrorism
3. Measures to build States' capacity to prevent and combat terrorism and to strengthen the role of the United Nations system in that regard
4. Measures to ensure respect for human rights for all and the rule of law as the fundamental basis of the fight against terrorism

UN Security Council, S/RES/1540 (2004)

2004

Summary: Recognising the threat posed by the proliferation of nuclear, chemical and biological weapons, the Resolution requires Member States to refrain from providing any form of support to non-state actors, including terrorist groups, that attempt to develop, acquire, manufacture, possess, transport or use nuclear, chemical or biological weapons.

---

UN Security Council, S/RES/1373 (2001)

2001

Summary: Security Council Resolution 1373 underlines the importance of combating terrorism as one of the major threats posed to international peace and security and it is primarily aimed at preventing and suppressing the financing of terrorist acts.

Council of Europe Committee on Counter Terrorism, Council of Europe Counter-Terrorism Strategy (2023-2027) 2023

Summary: The terrorist threat in Europe has been evolving significantly in recent times, and new threats are posed by a multiplicity of ideological movements, namely the violent far-right but also far-left groups, as well as other emerging terrorist groups. The Council of Europe has therefore adopted a new counter-terrorism strategy for the period 2023-2027 that adapts to the ever-evolving scenarios. The strategy, aimed at addressing a wide range of potential terrorist movements, is based on three main pillars:

1. Prevention, through measures capable of disrupting a terrorist attack or its preparation;
2. Prosecution, which means incurring that terrorist attacks in Europe and abroad are investigated in a timely, efficient manner;
3. Protection, by providing security of individuals and communities.

Western & Eastern European Group Documents

EUROPOL, European Union Terrorism Situation and Trend Report 2023 2023

Summary: The EU Terrorism Situation and Trend Report is a situational overview, presenting key figures and trends of terrorism landscape in Europe in 2022. It is based on data provided by Member States terrorist attacks, arrests and court decisions issued for terrorist offences. In particular, 28 completed, failed and foiled terrorist attacks were reported by Member States in 2022. This clearly shows how terrorism remains a significant threat to the internal security of the EU.

CSIS, Global Terrorism Threat Assessment 2024 2024

Summary: The United States and its allies and partners face several terrorist threats from terrorist actors, international groups and networks. The report includes qualitative and quantitative approaches to provide US and Western analysts with a comprehensive analysis of new developments in the terrorism landscape and a detailed threat assessment of countries and regions facing terrorist threats. The report underlines that while the threat to the US from Salafi-Jihadist groups is lower than in the past, new forms of terrorism are developing, namely from violent far-right (and far-left) extremists. On top of this, Countries such as Iran and Russia support terrorist activities for their own interests.

IEP, Global Terrorism Index 2023

2023

Summary: The Institute for Economic & Peace (IEP) report provides a summary of the global trends and patterns in terrorism for the period 2007-2022. Among key facts and information, the report underlines how in 2022 the Islamic States and its affiliates remained the deadliest terrorist group. Moreover, it indicates violent conflict as the primary driver of terrorism and it stresses the dramatic increase in terrorism in the Sahel region and sub-Saharan Africa, which have become the epicenter of terrorism.

GCTF, New York Memorandum on Good Practices for Interdicting Terrorist Travel

2019

Summary: This Global CounterTerrorism Forum's Memorandum is the result of lessons learned, challenges and case studies shared by practitioners and policymakers to deal with terrorist travel, through the implementation of legal and policy measures aimed at securing borders against terrorist travel.

GCTF, The Hague Good Practices on the Nexus between Transnational Organized Crime and Terrorism 2018

Summary: The correlation between terrorism and transnational organized crime exacerbates the threat to international peace and security. This GCTF's good practices document is aimed at developing strategies to tackle the nexus between terrorism and transnational organized crime. It is divided into four sections:

1. Legal considerations;
2. Research and information sharing, to enable States to identify the nexus;
3. Local engagement, which underlines the role played by local communities in fighting threats to security;
4. Capacity building and law enforcement, to help States to obtain the greatest efficiency from their authorities through the understanding of the nexus between organized crime and terrorism to improve anti-crime and counterterrorism strategies.

Al-Monitor, ISIS resurgence in Iraq sees fresh attacks, clashes after commander killed 2024

Summary: In May, 2024, ISIS was suspected of killing several Iraqi soldiers in an attack against an Iraqi army post. The attack is just one of the latest examples of the activities carried out by ISIS in Iraq, where the group is regaining power.

CSIS, Security in the Horn of Africa: A Discussion with Somalia's Deputy Prime Minister 2024

Summary: In this discussion, Somalia's Deputy Prime Minister gives an insight of the challenges as well as the important steps forward undertaken by the Country. Somalia has recently become the eighth member of the East African Community. The country, with its coastline that can offer new trade opportunities, plays a strategic role for the Community. However, it may pose security challenges, mainly related to its long fight against the terrorist organisation al-Shabaab, as well as to the drought and famine that left 8 million people in need of humanitarian assistance. Somalia has made some steps forward: in particular, through its military offensive against al-Shabaab the Country has at least partially managed to restore security.

The Jamestown Foundation-Terrorism Monitor, 2024 One Year On, the Civil War Risks Reviving Jihadism in Sudan

Summary: The ongoing civil war in Sudan has the re-emergence of Jihadism in the country, among its dire consequences. With the emergence of islamist-leaning militias, Sudanese foreign fighters involved in jihadist groups abroad may use Sudan as a "bridge between theaters". This may turn Sudan into a hub of jihadist terrorism.

[Al-Monitor, What Niger-US rupture says about 2024
Russia and West's shaky future](#)

Summary: The announcement from Niger's military junta to suspend its counter-terrorism agreement with the US poses new security threats for the country and the region more broadly. US withdrawal may indeed leave a vacuum that is likely to be exploited by militant groups, namely factions affiliated with ISIS and al-Qaeda. A key factor to consider is whether countries such as China, Russia or Iran will fill the security gap left by the fading Western influence.

[The Jamestown Foundation-Terrorism Monitor, 2024
Mercenaries, UN Peacekeepers, and Multilateral Forces May Not Be Enough to Protect the Congo from the M23 Movement](#)

Summary: The DRC struggles to remove the M23 rebel movement from its Nord-Kivu Region, which continues to attract armed groups for its mineral wealth. Military aid combined with the intervention of European mercenaries and the UN assistance (MONUSCO peacekeeping mission) has not yet succeeded in removing the M23 group in the area, which remains extremely unstable and threatens stability and security in the region.

International Crisis Group, Speech to the UN Security Council on Counter-terrorism in Africa 2022

Summary: The International Crisis Group underlines how conflicts involving non-state armed groups remain a source of instability in Africa. The Group stresses the importance of military operations in stabilisation and counter-terrorism missions, but it also suggests how these operations should be subordinate to a political strategy. To complement military operations, three points should be considered:

- Providing basic services, which is a fundamental short-term counterterrorism tool;
- Strengthening governance, which is a medium-term counter-terrorism tool;
- Considering dialogue with militant groups (for instance about humanitarian access), which can bring about positive outcomes.
